

Contract and Management Publications Update Service

► How it Works

The Contract and Management Publications Update Service (CAMPUS) is designed to ensure that you are automatically supplied with essential documents, contracts and other publications, available for the architecture and construction industry, immediately on publication. You select exactly which type of documents you wish to receive and you will only be invoiced for the documents you choose to keep – there are no subscription or administration fees.

The service includes documents published by the Joint Contracts Tribunal, government and RIBA Publishing, as well as a wide range of legal documentation and publications from other construction organisations.

An invoice for the total amount payable will accompany the documents. Unwanted items can be returned for a credit; postage costs are non-refundable.

► What are the benefits?

- A free updating service ensuring you receive copies of new and important books and documents.
- The service is flexible – requirements may be altered or cancelled at any time.
- No subscription or administration fees – pay for the documents you choose to keep on your business account.
- You can return any unwanted items for a refund (subject to our terms and conditions).

► What you need to do

- Apply for a business account with RIBA Bookshops (if you are not already an account holder contact our Customer Service Team, details overleaf).
- Simply select the items you would like supplied by placing a tick in the appropriate circle. If you wish to receive more than one copy of each document, please place the number you require, instead of a tick.
- Complete the additional details below and return the form to RIBA Bookshops (details overleaf) and we will set up the service for you.

I/We would like to receive documents as part of the RIBA Bookshops Contract and Management Publications Update Service (CAMPUS) and be automatically sent publications on those subject categories selected overleaf. We agree to settle the invoice price for the items supplied as per RIBA Bookshops' standard payment terms.
